CELEBRATE 20 YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF BEING AT OUR FAIRGROUNDS: “There’s No Place Like Home” After 6 different locations for the Washington County Fair, the 7th location is what everyone had hoped for, a brand new home at a permanent location forever and ever!

The first fair was held in Washington City in 1860 at the John D. Lee Mansion. Then when St. George was established, the fair was held in the St. George Hall, St. George Tabernacle basement, streets of Hurricane, Hurricane High School, Hurricane Middle School and then in 1997 moved to our new home.

Improvements are happening every year. Now 20 years later, we welcome the new Utah State University Extension building as part of our fairgrounds. With 19,000 square feet of exhibit space, new and exciting attractions and events can be held throughout the year. Yes, there’s no place like home!
